Best build for yorick.

Patch 11.7 buffs have turned Yorick into a beast in the current League of Legends meta. Players with the "Shepherd of Souls" are taking over the Summoner's Rift's top lane with a game-breaking Lethality build. Yorick has remained underused in League of Legends since his rework between the 6.18 and 6.21 patch cycles, five years ago. Since then, he couldn't really have an impact as an effective split-push bruiser over stronger champions like Camille, Zed, Tryndamere, Fiora, and others. Significant jump in Yorick's pick rate between patch 11.6 and 11.7 (Screengrab from OP.GG) Now, suddenly after a sturdy buff in the recent patch 11.7, Yorick has silently risen the ranks boasting a fascinating 6.59% increase in his top lane pick rate according to OP.GG. And not just at the top, the tweaks have led the "Shepherd of Souls" to flex as a jungler too. Why is Yorick so overpowering in League of Legends' top lane and jungle? Yorick has gained two significant buffs featuring his E - Mourning Mist in the latest League of Legends patch. Firstly, when an enemy champion or a monster is marked by Yorick's E, they now continuously awaken nearby graves (maximum 4 times). Even when the ghouls in the mist disappear, they re-spawn if there are graves around. This helps massively during teamfights. Thus, the marked enemies and large monsters now deal double the damage from Yorick's Mourning Mist. With a full lethality build, the Shepherd of Souls can easily one-shot tanky champions. Riot's considered the tweaks necessary to keep the champion relevant in the game. According to the developers, "Yorick is usually able to crush his way through average play, but recently, he's fallen behind. In addition to his absence from higher-tier games, he has room for a buff to help him across levels of play, so we're taking a first pass by making his E more satisfying and effective. Coupled with some QoL adjustments, this should help our shepherd feel less wretched, while also evening out his performance in higher levels of play." The two tweaks in terms of abilities have converted Yorick into an absolute beast since the last League of Legends update. Though he is yet to be a regular pick as a jungler, LCK caster Nick 'LS' de Cesare believes that it is just a matter of time. According to champion.gg, there has been a steady rise in Jungle Yorick as well since the launch of the 11.7 patch cycle. Lethality Yorick Item Build and Rune guide Image via Riot Games - League of Legends Lethality Yorick is still at an experimental stage among League of Legends regulars and is yet to be seen in pro play. But it does have potential and Yorick's one-tricks soon expect the build to be a game-changer. Following are a few item choices for Lethality Yorick that boost his damage, sustaining ability, and sticking strength during battles. This steadily helps the Shepherd of Souls reach his one-shot potential. He is outclassing other junglers as well, with his unparalleled pace and W-E ganks. Fans and League of Legends experts thus believe that Riot did go a bit too far with his E-Buff and expect a balance-tweak anytime soon in the upcoming patch cycles. You could be infinite." Yorick: "I am enough." Before level 6 your #1 priority should be farming and taking the Rift Scuttler . You don't generally prefer blue side because Blue Sentinel and gromp give you only the clear with Gromp and end up quite healthy and with good mana because of the blue buff. If you start red side then Krugs are much better than raports second, they are a much healthier clear and they give you gouls more easily. Remember that yorick is a good scuttle taker because his W cages it and reduces the scuttle's defenses and his E also counts as CC. You will need to play the champ a few times and try the clears to learn how to manage your gouls effectively. What are your advantages at this point: 1. With Maiden, your clears are now pretty fast. 2. You can solo objectives pretty fast. 3. Rift Herald before the plates fall is your best choice. Yorick can use the maiden and ghouls as a bait and hit the eye very easily. When he kills a lane, especially top lane, the combined power of two champions (one of which is *ing Yorick and his shovel), the minion wave, The Ghouls, The Maiden and Herald means that two towers will disappear immediately, even with the plates. This is a TON of Gold before the plates fall mins. 4. Your dueling power is pretty strong at this point, especially with Sheen. What you need to be careful of: 1. Staying too much in the jng, setting your lanes too far behind and make them tilt hard. 2. Losing your Maiden! At this point of the game your clear is not good without the maiden and you also lose your strong objective control and duel power. Eulogy of the Isles has a massive cooldown at this point as well, so doing something stupid that will make you lose the maiden without getting nothing bad is not a good idea. Your moves need to be worth it. ~ At this point of the game Yorick does Yorick stuff similar to what he does in the top lane. If he wins skirmishes he removes turrets pretty fast. He can also deny camps from the enemy jungle in an instance. Splitpushing is generally good on the champ but it's not always a good idea. It depends on how easily the enemy champions can punish you and how far ahead or behind you are. ~ A good thing about Yorick jungle is that because he plays that role there is a bigger possibility for the team to have other hypercarries in the top mid and bot lanes. This means that in some late game situations it's more worth it for Yorick to release The Maiden in a lane while he teamfights, since his team will still have damage. ~ Baron Nashor combined with Yorick stuff is too oppressive, most of the times the enemy team struggles a lot to defend effectively if they are even slightly behind.
